

THE GAZETTE.

FRIDAY JULY 29.

The democrats of Ohio will come out to the campaign with flying colors, if they don't get beaten by more than 25,000. What they most dread now is the big rise of the republican majority.

The mugwumps are searching for one Grover Cleveland, but can't find him. President Cleveland doesn't seem to be the man they voted for in 1884, as he has lost all appearance of being a reformer.

High license is closing up the saloons throughout Minnesota to an extent not anticipated. Mr. P. J. Smalley, writing to the New York Evening Post from Caladonia in that state, says:

Of our fifteen saloons eleven published notice of their intention to apply for license, and of the eleven only four found on the ground that their licenses were forfeited, enough to shoulder their intentions. The average reduction in the number is the same over the county.

On a very good authority it can be stated that a like reduction of the number of saloons has taken place all over the state.

Bradstreet's has a unique statistic in the presentation of its strike record for six months, from which it appears that at various times during the first half of the year laborers have been on a strike to the total number of 234,734, against $67,735 for the same period last year. The number of strikes was 523 to 200, so that the strikes have been more numerous, but have involved much fewer numbers than last year. The number of employees in the building trades who have been on strike is 69,000, in transportation 51,000, in coal mining 18,000, in boots and shoes 17,000.

A careful estimate has been made by officials connected with State Attorney Grinnell's office in Chicago as to the amount of money stolen by the Cook county thieves in the two years from September, 1884, to September, 1886. Not less than $480,000 was stolen in 1884-'85, and fully $520,000 in 1885-'86. The total is estimated at $1,000,000 for the two years. The tax levy for county purposes for the same period was $2,500,000—$1,200,000 for 1884-'85 and $1,300,000 for 1885-'86. The statistics, according to estimate, amount to forty per cent. of the levy in both years.

While Senator Voorhees is boiling the malaria out of his system at Hot Springs he is talking politics, and the following is what he pretends to believe: "As to the republican candidate, it is very difficult at this time to make an intelligent prediction who it will be. I do not believe it will be either Blaine or Sherman. I have very grave doubts, and I have reasons for them, whether Blaine will allow his name to go before the convention. Blaine is a very bright man and no office can find the signs better than he. Sherman has serious delusions in his own state, and I think he will go before the convention crippled and handicapped by open opposition and secret treachery from Ohio." With Blaine and Sherman out of the way the senator suggests Allen, Harrison, and Hawley as possibilities.

ENCOURAGING BOODLEISH.

Ex-Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, before he started for Europe, expressed his opinion of McGarrigle and the hoodler presentations, in the following language: McGarrigle is a good-natured fellow, and not the scheming rascal that he has been painted, and I don't know but I am glad he got off. Nine out of every ten men in Chicago are glad that he is gone. And why is it? Just because they know that the meanest scoundrel in the city are the men who are trying to send him up.

There is no doubt that Carter Harrison, died, and that he knew that he lied, when he said that nine out of every ten men in Chicago are glad McGarrigle has gone away. There cannot be any such a sentiment largely prevailing in that city. But this expression of opinion from Harrison shows how utterly wrecked he is in moral principle. McGarrigle and the hoodler committee are morally depraved. They are thieves on a big scale. They have stolen to the fullest extent of their ability. They have robbed the people by systematic plundering of tens of thousands of dollars, and yet because McGarrigle is a democrat, Carter Harrison, the leader of the Chicago democracy, is glad that the thief has gone to Canada, and says he is a better man than the "scoundrel who is plotting him." This is a sentiment that Jacksonian men who are made of iron and steel would not utter.

The fighting alliance of the administration with what has been known as the McGarrigle democracy of Ohio, has been the active interference of the treasury and interior departments in the democratic primary elections in Baltimore; the reorganization of the New York custom house with a view to making a few more places for democracy.

The sudden and simultaneous appearance in distant quarters of newspaper articles designed to show that Mr. Cleveland, far from being hostile to the men who fought for the union, is the best friend the soldier and pensioner ever had.

The evidence for swinging around the great circle this fall, in order to enable the president to inform himself concerning the resources and interests and needs of a vast region which he has never before found time to visit.

mayor their aid and support in his attempt to make a shameful false defense. Some times republicans will lead off as well as democrats, and when they do the republican press should denounce the theft and score the thieves. There would not be so many democratic election frauds, nor so much municipal rascality, if all democratic papers were as independent as the Madison Democrat, and a few others we could name. It seems to be the business of too many partisan papers to defend their political friends whether they are right or wrong.

THE PRESIDENT'S BEAUTIFUL SYSTEM.

When Mr. Cleveland went to Washington to remain four years as president he took along his civil service and suspended it over the door of the white house. The tag read: "Civil service repairing done here." Well, the civil service has been kept open over two years, and how much repairing has the president done to the civil service system? It wouldn't do to call republicans as witnesses because that would be too much like prejudice, but let us call mugwumps and democrats who supported Mr. Cleveland for president on the plea that Mr. Blaine wasn't good enough for them.

About the first thing Mr. Cleveland after reaching Washington, was to put Eugene Higgins, of Baltimore, in the treasury department, as appointment clerk Higgins is as corrupt as he is profane, and when he recently took part in the Baltimore primaries, the burden of his speech was "civil service be damned." This same Higgins still kept in office, and seems to be highly prized by the administration.

The Baltimore Civil Service Reformer, a mugwump publication, has been made official by the administration, and in its last issue it is forced to say: "It is quite now to conceal the fact—indeed, for serious thought, that if we consider only local interests, the present administration has proved more harmful to Maryland than any administration, republican or democratic, has proved in the past or is likely to prove in the future." The effect has been no worse in Maryland than in other states, and is in fact not as bad, for the administration has committed greater crimes against civil service reform in New York.

The New York World, democratic says: "When Mr. Cleveland issued his executive order forbidding federal officeholders from meddling in politics, he gave no thought to a renomination. Since then a change has taken place. Mr. Cleveland is giving the subject of a second term a great deal of study, and every move he makes is in the direction of securing a renomination. In the opinion of many Mr. Cleveland would like very much to suspend his executive order for the next year, and it is not at all unlikely that he will let it fall into innocent democratic hands. The civil service reformer, if the president refuses to heed their protests it will be substantially a notice to every officeholder in the country that the civil service law has been suspended until after the presidential election next year."

A prominent democrat, a civil service reformer in preaching, and probably one in practice, who lives in Washington, has made public this statement:

It will be impossible for Mr. Cleveland to ignore the charges against Higgins and others of violating the civil service law. The charges are not denied and there is no question that they have rendered themselves subject to dismissal under the president's order regulating the conduct of officeholders. We will state the case frankly to the president. There have been a good many violations of the president's order by federal employees, but this is such a grand case he cannot afford to ignore it.

The New York Times, the mugwump of mugwumps, whose enthusiasm for Mr. Cleveland has hardly any limit, in a sober moment speaks thus: "President Cleveland has professed to discontinue activity in the part of federal officeholders in party management. And yet as character of selection on account of principle and fitness for the position, and the fact that they have been conspicuously disregarded in the prominent appointments made in and from the city of Baltimore, so the principle of non-interference by officeholders with the free and untrammeled election of the people, and their political action has been flagrantly violated."

Then comes the New York Sun, democratic, with some charges against the administration that will set all so-called moderate democrats to thinking. The charges would not be worth a farthing, were all the promises of 1884 made good in 1887; or if President Cleveland, in 1887 heeded the advice and sealed the promise, of Grover Cleveland in 1884. Here is what the Sun says:

The fighting alliance of the administration with what has been known as the McGarrigle democracy of Ohio, has been the active interference of the treasury and interior departments in the democratic primary elections in Baltimore; the reorganization of the New York custom house with a view to making a few more places for democracy.

The sudden and simultaneous appearance in distant quarters of newspaper articles designed to show that Mr. Cleveland, far from being hostile to the men who fought for the union, is the best friend the soldier and pensioner ever had.

The evidence for swinging around the great circle this fall, in order to enable the president to inform himself concerning the resources and interests and needs of a vast region which he has never before found time to visit.

He is under the domination of his party. The civil service has been jockeyed up and the key thrown into the well. The civil service has been jockeyed down, and from this time forth though twelve months, the president must look to his heels.

SHERMAN AND FORAKER.

THEY AROUSE ENTHUSIASM IN THE CONVENTION.

No Opposition to Either Shown—The Republican Platform—Convention Proceedings.

TOLSON, Ohio, July 23.—Presently at 10 o'clock Thursday morning the Republican convention assembled, the committee on rules and credentials reported and the reports were adopted. The platform was then read. The platform was in favor of a protective tariff to secure to American citizens the privilege of supplying every article which can be produced, as well as the United States in other countries, and the United States to supply American wants. Such a tariff makes it dangerous for and gives employment to the labor of American citizens, and thereby aids in securing just compensation for labor; denounces the Ohio Democratic platform which demands an undiscriminated reduction in all duties on raw materials, and welcomes to our shores the well-dressed and industrious emigrant, who contributes by his energy and intelligence to the cause of free government, views with alarm and distrust the immigration from foreign lands as dangerous to the peace and good order of the country; and the integrity and character of its citizenship; urges Congress to pass laws and establish such regulations as shall protect us from the fraud of the anarchist, the communist, the vicious and criminal classes, and contract labor in every form. But while favoring every honorable and practically possible measure to protect American labor against the evil effects of foreign immigration and competition, it recognizes the dangers which menace it as a nation, and condemns the bold and persistent usurpation in many of the States of the rights and privileges. The condition of the man who labor in the North cannot be maintained or improved so long as the men who labor in the South are wrongfully deprived of the rights and powers of American citizenship. Recognizing these plain truths, it demands a free ballot and a fair count in all sections of our country.

On the question of tariff the platform demands such duties on wool and manufactures as will secure the American market to American producers, denounces the demand made under President Cleveland's administration for the "immediate passage of an act placing raw wool upon the free list," earnestly protests against the actions of the Secretary of the Treasury in the interest of the foreign producer and foreign labor as in opposition to the letter and spirit of the tariff laws.

The fifth clause favors liberal provision to the soldiers and sailors of the Union, adequate appropriations for the improvement of the national waterways and national aid to education.

The seventh clause advocates the propriety of the divorce of the Union, and the eighth clause extends hearty sympathy to the distressed and distressed as unjust and unchristian to secure Home Rule for Ireland.

The ninth clause condemns the action of Mr. Cleveland in voting pension bills, and especially the dishonored soldiers of the Union, and the dishonored soldiers of the country, and the language in which certain of his veterans are couched, and condemn as unjust and unchristian to secure Home Rule for Ireland.

The tenth clause is as follows: "We heartily endorse the administration of Gov. Sherman, and we do especially endorse and approve his patriotic declaration that no rebel flag shall be surrendered while he is Governor. And we further endorse and approve his prompt action in instituting measures to prevent the unlawful order of President Cleveland from being executed."

The twelfth clause denounces the frauds, forgeries, and crimes committed by the Democratic party in Ohio in the election for state officers, and members of the General Assembly in 1885.

The thirteenth and last clause contains the endorsement of Sherman.

When the Sherman endorsement resolution was read, cheering broke out from the ranks of the soldiers, and the members of the convention were given for Sherman. A motion was made to adopt the whole platform by acclamation. It was done unanimously, without a dissenting voice. Tremendous cheering followed and loud calls were made for Sherman. Sherman did not appear and the report of the committee on permanent organization was read and adopted. Hon. John Sherman was made permanent chairman. The convention cheered Sherman chairman to the echo, and he took the platform. His speech was listened to with the closest attention.

Dr. Graydon, of Cincinnati, nominated Gov. Foraker for his second term in a ten-minute speech, in which he was cheering, and the motion was carried by acclamation, amid a whirlwind of cheers. A committee was appointed to select Foraker to the hall and the nomination of a Lieutenant-Governor was proceeded with. The Hon. W. B. Eustice, of Springfield, was named, but declined the nomination. He was named by the Democratic platform recently adopted.

of the advantages of the boy of today. At the age of 10, on July 14, 1862, he enlisted as a private in Company A, Eighty-ninth Ohio Infantry, being the first man enlisted in, and went at once into active service. His bravery and devotion won for him rapid promotion. Jan. 25, 1863, he was made Second Lieutenant, and on Feb. 1, 1864, First Lieutenant. He was again promoted to Captain for efficient service during the campaign in Georgia and South Carolina. After the war he attended school at Salem, two years at Delaware Wesleyan University, and graduated from Cornell University July 1, 1880. He studied law with Judge James S. Powell, of Cincinnati, was admitted to the bar in 1880, and was elected Judge of the Superior Court at Cincinnati ten years later. Three years later he resigned. He was nominated for Governor in 1888, but defeated by Hendley, and two years later he defeated Hendley.

Thomas E. Powell, the Democratic nominee for the Ohio governorship, was born in Delaware, O., where he still resides, Feb. 20, 1852. His ancestry is Welsh, and his father, James S. Powell, was a famous Ohio lawyer. Young Powell was educated in his native town, and toward the close of the war went into the army. Upon his return he studied law with his father. In 1872 he accepted politics, and stumped the state for the Greeley ticket. In 1875 he received the nomination for Attorney-General, and notwithstanding the great popularity and strength of the late Gov. Allen, he was elected. He was the majority candidate for Governor in 1880, but was defeated by Allen. In 1883 his party, against his wishes, made him the nominee for Congress in the Ninth District. He made a most effective campaign, and was elected. Since a tariff makes it dangerous for and gives employment to the labor of American citizens, and thereby aids in securing just compensation for labor; denounces the Ohio Democratic platform which demands an undiscriminated reduction in all duties on raw materials, and welcomes to our shores the well-dressed and industrious emigrant, who contributes by his energy and intelligence to the cause of free government, views with alarm and distrust the immigration from foreign lands as dangerous to the peace and good order of the country; and the integrity and character of its citizenship; urges Congress to pass laws and establish such regulations as shall protect us from the fraud of the anarchist, the communist, the vicious and criminal classes, and contract labor in every form. But while favoring every honorable and practically possible measure to protect American labor against the evil effects of foreign immigration and competition, it recognizes the dangers which menace it as a nation, and condemns the bold and persistent usurpation in many of the States of the rights and privileges. The condition of the man who labor in the North cannot be maintained or improved so long as the men who labor in the South are wrongfully deprived of the rights and powers of American citizenship. Recognizing these plain truths, it demands a free ballot and a fair count in all sections of our country.

While decorating St. Joseph's Catholic church, at Erie, Pa., Thursday, an accident named Jefferson Adams fell from the scaffolding, forbidding of fifty feet, and was fatally killed.

Hitchcock Harris, known as "Public Harris," a devout Hebrew, died at Brooklyn Wednesday aged 100 years. His widow has just passed her 90th year. He was with Napoleon in his campaign in Mexico.

No confirmation can be obtained in New York of the rumor that Channey M. Dewey and President Lady of the Michigan Central railroad, had gone to Europe to float a $7,000,000 loan for the building of a new line of railroad from Detroit to the Straits of Mackinac.

Insurance men are troubled over the number of disastrous fires that have occurred in the past six months. It is believed that the teachings of John Mox, the Anarchist, and his followers have led to many of the conflagrations, and Mox's book on dynamite and phosphorus as incendiary agents has been referred to the police committee at New York.

A Big Notion Funeral. SALT LAKE, U. T., July 25.—The committee on the John Taylor funeral arrangements have been working hard, and the tabernacle, altar, and big organ have been draped in black. The funeral of the late John Taylor, of Mormonism, took place in the city by train and farm wagons. Six bands of music have been engaged, about all the Territory possesses. The body still lies at Amelia Taylor's, where the funeral arrangements have been made for a public view of the remains. The day is being observed as a holiday. No clue has yet been obtained as to where Taylor died.

Social Festivities at Camp Lincoln. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 23.—Col. Lattin was somewhat indisposed Thursday, attributable to a minor to the hot weather. Company E, of Lincoln, entertained a number of friends of the Springfield watch factory on Thursday evening at an elegant banquet. Capt. Donnelly, of Company G, gave an informal spread to-night to the officers of the regiment, which was in every way a grand affair. Refreshments, the wonderful private, is still improving, and will be able to go home Saturday. The regiment breaks camp Saturday morning.

Watchdog Allows Immigrants to Land. WASHINGTON, July 23.—The immigration authorities at New York recently stopped a Swedish woman and child, on the ground that their passport had been paid and that they had only $10 and were likely to become public charges. Secretary Fairbank has directed that they be permitted to land, a bond being furnished by friends that they will not become public charges.

Favors a World's Fair in Chicago. CHICAGO, July 23.—The International Association of Fairs and Expositions, which considered its annual session here Thursday, voted a resolution that a world's fair should be held in 1892, and Chicago was pointed out as the most suitable place. The next convention will take place in Chicago in November, 1888.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Cody, wish to return thanks for the many favors shown them in their recent sorrow.

—Messrs. Thoroughgood & Co., are tilting their lumber yard with lumber for use in their box factory.

—On Jackson street the car track is being lowered several inches. This makes it conform to the surface.

—Rev. Dr. Spaulding, of Christ church, has returned from his vacation. Services will be resumed on Sunday.

—Miss Kate Fife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fife, is home from a somewhat extended visit in Kansas.

—Ald. Thoroughgood is in favor of placing one of the five drinking fountains on Fourth avenue, near the bridge.

—Captain Koeblin will send the Kluge detail to Racine to-morrow. Tests for the company are now ready to be set up.

—Charles Atwood smiles benignly when he thinks of the people that will ride on the street cars to visit the Kickapoo.

—Engineer Williams says he now has pipe enough to keep the men busy until a fresh supply can be shipped from the east.

—No arrangement has yet been made for a union service next Sunday and some of the ministers are beginning to feel anxious.

—W. D. Buckingham, who was here negotiating for the purchase of Richardson & Bro's shoe store, returned to Racine this morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. Adm. Hayner, who have been visiting relatives in this city for some time past, returned to their home in Chicago this morning.

—People's Lodge No. 409, Independent Order of Good Templars, assemble in regular weekly session this evening—lodge room in the Court Street M. E. church block.

Golling pays special attention to catering for parties. Ice cream and cake served promptly. Call on him for anything in that line or for fruit, cigars, candy and tobacco.

—Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the committee on amusements for the Calceonian picnic was held, and all the details arranged. There will be enough fun about next Friday to satisfy anyone.

—Tarkney Ross has been affected so by the warm weather that every once in a while he leads his prisoners on ice cream and cake. As for the prisoners themselves they wish the heat would last until Christmas.

—Mr. Omas A. Davis, the gentlemanly press agent for Sells Bros. circus, is in the city to-day. The show will exhibit in Janesville, August 16th, and will be the only circus that will visit the city this summer.

—Where is the chairman of the park committee? The fountain of the court house square is "a thing of beauty," but the people would like "a joy forever," by a full supply of water. Apparently, all that is needed is some one to say the word.

—The picnic of Olive Branch Lodge, A. O. U. W., at Crystal Springs yesterday, was attended by a very large number of people—old and young. Smith & Corlies' band furnished music for dancing until a late hour in the evening. All who attended the picnic report a pleasant time.

—Six carriages full of young people, started for Clear Lake at nine o'clock this morning. Besides, there were carriages without number. It was the Presbyterian picnic and from all indications nothing was lacking to make it a complete success.

—C. E. Cummings expects to open his Evanston dry goods store about the first of September. The stock is ordered and a store is being fitted up to receive it. All that has looked over the grounds note in predicting a complete success.

—The paste brigade attached to Sells Brothers' circus, is in the city to-day, billing that show for August 15th. Large bill boards have been erected in different parts of the city, which are being covered with illustrated paper.

—Women cartridge belts have been received by the local militia men to replace the inconvenient leather boxes. Quite a number of the men have also been furnished new uniforms for fatigue duty and the rifles will also go into camp next week with handsome new caps.

—On Monday next Henry Suberman will take the "grip" for Messrs. Richardson & Marshall upon the road. He has been with Messrs. Burns & Belmont for two years or more, and has proved a thoroughly trustworthy young man as well as a good salesman; hence his elevation to this position.

—The frame of the " annex" to the horse barns of Messrs. Bowles & Hadden, on North First street, between Bluff and Division streets, has been raised, and it now looks as though the " annex" will be considerably larger than the main building.

—Both Guards and Rifles have been working especially on the new skirmish drill for some time past. This was shown in the armories last night. The men went from one formation to another at double-quick, without delay or confusion. They promise to give the other companies at Racine a close rub.

—Mrs. Frank E. Fife and two children have arrived from Kansas, Mr. Fife and his other two children having preceded them. They will now take possession of their home at 201 North Jackson street. Mr. Fife will engage in the lumber business with his father under the firm name of E. G. Fife & Sons.

—The medicinal qualities of our artesian well water is fast gaining notoriety. Yesterday a gentleman was at the well with two horses loaded with tight barrels, which he filled with the water, remarking that he had come a distance of twenty-nine miles, under direction of his family physician, for a supply of this water for use in his family.

—Quartermaster Sergeant Holdridge started for Racine this morning. His detail included Corporal J. B. Whiting, Jr., and Privates Charles Sloan, Ed. Travis, John Behrman and Glen Bowman. It is understood that Sloan has been appointed chaplain of the company but this is not certain, as the appointment has not yet been made public.

—Reed & Bigelow's Kickapoo Indian Medicine Company, under Dr. U. F. W. manager, will pitch and locate their Indian village at the corner of Milton avenue and Glen street, on August 2nd. This company carry no cow-panels or wild west people, but genuine Indians under the direction of the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Company. Only ladies and gentlemen are admitted.

—Complaint was made against Peter Meyer this morning, for failure to file the law regarding fire escapes. The complaint was made by Factory Inspector Moore. He says Mr. Meyer must remove all doors that prevent free access to the escapes, and must place printed instructions as to the escapes in each room. He must also have a competent night watchman. The case will not come up for trial until after the return of the district attorney.

—Dutton's grocery at the corner of Madison and Academy streets in the first ward, will soon be fully opened. Goods are being arranged as fast as possible.

Mr. Dutton has a thorough knowledge of the grocery business, and as everything in stock is of his own selection there can be no question as to its quality and freshness. First ward people are congratulating themselves on having so thorough a business man to cater to their wants.

—Negotiations are pending by which the shoe firm of Richardson & Bookings may be changed to Richardson & Marshall. The prospective purchaser is F. M. Marshall, who is also interested with Mr. Richardson in manufacturing shoes. Mr. Buckingham, who was to have taken up the business drew out for the time being because of a disagreement regarding the terms of the partnership. He wished Mr. Richardson to retain his half interest in the store, while Mr. Richardson preferred to dispose of it as soon as possible and devote his time to other matters.

THEY BEAT ALL.

This is What Dr. Henson Says of Women—Points from Monina.

How Some Campers Chased "White Owls."—Bathing Matches After Dark.

LAKESIDE NOTES.

MADISON, July 20.—Wednesday being temperance day at the assembly, we listened to Hon. Geo. W. Bain, of Kentucky, on that subject. Notwithstanding the subject is old and hackneyed, the lecture was new and extremely interesting. The lecturer did not harp on prohibition, and in no way advocated the third party movement. The very fact that he held the closest attention of fully two thousand people for two hours, speaks for itself. He has been called by many a second John B. Gough. In the evening, Dr. Henson, of Chicago, lectured on the subject of "Our Governors." The word as he used it referred to the household. The first one he spoke of was the "Boy" who generally did as he thought best in too many cases, overruling the will of the parents. In more than one instance Bridget is a governor, reigning supreme in the household. The chief governor he spoke of was the so-called "lady of the house," his ruling man in almost everything. Nearly all that man does for woman. What does he care for wealth, fame or honors, except as it will please woman? In the garden of Eden the devil couldn't tempt Adam, but the woman did, and woman will beat the devil any time.

Dr. Henson's second lecture on yesterday was as thoroughly appreciated as the first. Last evening the Imperial Quartette, of Chicago, gave another of their enjoyable concerts.

To-day is children's day and the grounds are fairly alive with young America.

Frank Beard, the imitable, gave the young folks a lecture
